

The Key of Time

Abstract

To be or not to be? How many have heard this famous line? It is the question of all time. But what is time? Is it simply an arbitrary construct of human reasoning or does it have an independent reality of its own, aside from watches and clocks and seasons? Does Shakespeare's famous riddle cipher a formula for time? I say yes! The formula is stated thusly.

a + b is to a as a is to b.

It is the Golden Mean and its meaning. The fractal of time who's arrow points in the direction of creation. The movement of time beginning and ending what is, or what is to be.

Time is the measure of sequence of events. Without time there can be no distance, dimension or form and space has no volume. Only Time can give meaning to all the myriad phenomena of existence. Time itself must therefore be as real as any so called thing, for without it there would be nothings. So what exactly is this thing we call Time?

What event gives time reality? Vibration! The motion of vibration creates time with its every oscillation.

From eternity to eternity the movement of time oscillates, connecting the infinite past to the in-phi-knit future. With each cycle of time the wheelwork of the universe spins forward and backwards spanning every potential and possibility of all eternity. We call the single cycle unit "Plank Time", the shortest possible anything ever. It is the motion of time that imparts spin to all the standing waves we call particles. It's motion is the jittering of the quantum field. The to and fro of motion of time is the alpha and the omega of creation. It is source of the zero point energy of the vacuum.

The motion of Time is spiral. Forward time is contracting Clockwise and Reverse Time is expanding Anticlockwise. Time has handedness and the hand of time is the architect of life. The molecules of life have a Rights and Lefts, and the direction of their hand dictates if they tend to bring order or chaos to the organism as life emerges and then disappears.

Chiros is time moving from the future to the present. Ironically we use the term chiral to describe the handedness of organic molecules, subtly, hinting the direction of time is giving them left or right handed symmetry. One direction, "hand" is considered sinister and the other is correct, "right". This motion either expands or contracts in Phi ratio. The expansion of life into greater complexity is called Evolution and evolution is quantized according to this the ratio of Phi. This is the motion of going from A to B, or going from energy into, "Being".

The oscillation of space gives us our first fundamental force in nature, magnetism which is the feminine creative force of the universe. This force is a motion of infinite velocity in equilibrium. To make forms of apparent density a secondary force must be present. This secondary force moves only at right angles to the magnetic force making time as it decelerates the force of magnetism. It masculine and has many names but all its forms of expression have the same cause, we call it heat, light, sound or other waves in the E.M. spectrum that are perpetually reproduced by the oscillations of the aether. It is the high speed force of magnetism that makes it possible to slowly turn the shaft of a generator and have it produce waves traveling millions of times faster. Without the electric motion of heat matter becomes amorphous. Matter without heat does not radiate and can have no mass. There are no charged particles, particles are either charging or discharging. Lacking a proper physical concept of charge, the property of spin cannot be understood.

Gravity, the opposed motion of radiation and decays over time. As radiation cools matter, the recoil we call gravity is decreased. The standing waves of matter are pushed together to conserve momentum. We can observe this in our solar system as we travel away from the Sun, the cooler planets are less dense and they become more nebulous the farther we go out until they slowly disintegrate. Present understanding of the invisible forces are incomplete at best if not intentionally corrupted to keep us asleep. Life Force, magnetism, time and so called gravity are all related so that if we solve the mystery of one, all the others will reveal their true nature.

The so called particles of matter are the standing waves in forward time, the antiparticles are standing waves moving backwards in time. One being the equal and opposite reaction to the other, balancing force through opposed motion. It is this rule of balanced motion that proves that the force of entropy must have a mate, and her name is Syntropy. As entropy creates chaos, Syntropy creates life, and as they are universal forces everywhere present, Life must also be as ubiquitous as light and heat.

We can see the Key to time illustrated in the simplest geometric representation on temples and sacred art throughout the world. These spirals made up of right angles symbolize the structure of light. It looks like Greek Key, and a Key it is. Once we understand time, we will recognize instantly the lost knowledge the ancients possessed. We will know how vibration makes time as the energy spirals inward creating light, life and the all attractive force that is love.

Soon, in the near future contained in the potential of now, humans will alter time by manipulating the electric waves of light to bend space and travel the universe and explore the heavens. The power of love will replace the love of power so that the force of time can be used for good and for healing and mankind will overcome death once and for all. For this the time has come.
